YOUR PATHWAY TO ARTS BOARD LEADERSHIP

HOW TO APPLY

Apply online at artswave.org/boardwaybound.

TOOLKIT

All backdrops and career stage conversations are available at artswave.org/boardwaybound. Here’s what you need to do to make an impact on the arts board:

1. Participate in all sessions.
2. Provide a summary of your leadership experience and best practices. Some participants have served on multiple boards in other fields and desire more in-depth knowledge of the issues unique to nonprofit arts. Others are new to the region and are looking to make lasting connections.
3. Apply by June 15

ArtWave encourages candidates from diverse backgrounds to apply. Together we can ensure that the programs and practices of the region's arts and cultural organizations reflect our entire community.

WHY SHOULD I PARTICIPATE?

Participants can expect:

• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Introductions to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Perspective on local arts and cultural organizations and the unique issues confronting them
• A network of classmates, session speakers and program graduates through the new Boardway Bound Alumni Network
• Individually placement and matching with a local arts board on our speed-dating interview process
• Access to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Networking opportunities with arts board leaders from around the region

APPLY NOW!

How to apply

Apply online at artswave.org/boardwaybound.

TOOLKIT

All backdrops and career stage conversations are available at artswave.org/boardwaybound. Here’s what you need to do to make an impact on the arts board:

1. Participate in all sessions.
2. Provide a summary of your leadership experience and best practices. Some participants have served on multiple boards in other fields and desire more in-depth knowledge of the issues unique to nonprofit arts. Others are new to the region and are looking to make lasting connections.
3. Apply by June 15

ArtWave encourages candidates from diverse backgrounds to apply. Together we can ensure that the programs and practices of the region's arts and cultural organizations reflect our entire community.

WHY SHOULD I PARTICIPATE?

Participants can expect:

• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Introductions to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Perspective on local arts and cultural organizations and the unique issues confronting them
• A network of classmates, session speakers and program graduates through the new Boardway Bound Alumni Network
• Individually placement and matching with a local arts board on our speed-dating interview process
• Access to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Networking opportunities with arts board leaders from around the region

APPLY NOW!

How to apply

Apply online at artswave.org/boardwaybound.

TOOLKIT

All backdrops and career stage conversations are available at artswave.org/boardwaybound. Here’s what you need to do to make an impact on the arts board:

1. Participate in all sessions.
2. Provide a summary of your leadership experience and best practices. Some participants have served on multiple boards in other fields and desire more in-depth knowledge of the issues unique to nonprofit arts. Others are new to the region and are looking to make lasting connections.
3. Apply by June 15

ArtWave encourages candidates from diverse backgrounds to apply. Together we can ensure that the programs and practices of the region's arts and cultural organizations reflect our entire community.

WHY SHOULD I PARTICIPATE?

Participants can expect:

• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Introductions to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Perspective on local arts and cultural organizations and the unique issues confronting them
• A network of classmates, session speakers and program graduates through the new Boardway Bound Alumni Network
• Individually placement and matching with a local arts board on our speed-dating interview process
• Access to arts leaders who will share their experiences in the business of the arts
• Overview of nonprofit management, finances, marketing, fundraising and more
• Understanding of how to be an effective board leader
• Networking opportunities with arts board leaders from around the region